ABOUT ME

I launched my website in May 2016, primarily as a way to share my parenting experiences and keep my brain cells ticking over while on maternity leave. A large part of my lifestyle focused on fitness and wellbeing, but I didn't think that my readers would be interested in it. How wrong I was!

I began to blog about workouts, nutrition, motivational tips and goal-setting, as well as retaining a presence with my parenting posts. I'm now happily sitting in my own little niche of fitness and parenting, and reaching a wide demographic of like-minded, health conscious readers.
